

Just like cable network or satellite dish subscribers (I have neither. I have plan old basic T.V.) , I pay my subscription fee for XM RADIO. Since I am a PAYING CUSTOMER, I should be entitled to listen to or HAVE THE CHOICE to listen to whatever I want. I should be able to have as many choices as I want since I am paying for this privilege. We have the right to listen to (or watch) many things but we also have the right to change the channel. Programs/radio stations/disc jockeys/newspapers/books should not be censored. If people are offended or companies aren't getting "their share", why is it that the first thing to happen is a review of the matter at hand? Then the alledged "offensive" material or the "new money maker on the block" are banned forever. Doesn't this Country have more important things to worry about than weather/traffic/satellite radio stations? I CHOSE to subscribe to satellite radio and I like the CHOICES that I PAY FOR.
